Police of County Attend Tear Gas School Here

Thirty-one law enforcement officers from police departments in Columbiana County cities and towns participated in a tear gas school held Friday afternoon at the Salem Polo Club grounds on the Ellsworth Road.

Arranged by Sheriff Russell J. VanFossan, the class afforded the police an opportunity to learn better how to handle tear gas guns. An hour-long lecture by John G. O'Callaghan of Pittsburgh preceded the practical demonstration.

In picture at top Deputy Howard Gray fires one of the weapons as others wait their turn. At bottom is a photo of all patrolmen, chiefs of police and deputies who attended.

Columbiana Man Stabbed In Alliance Bar

An unknown assailant stabbed a 25-year-old Columbiana man last night in an Alliance bar during an argument over the merits of various automobiles.

Dwight Gibson, 25, of Fairfield Ave., Columbiana, is in fair condition at the Central Clinic where he was brought at 10:55 last night for treatment of a stab wound in the left side of his back.

The stabbed man was brought to the clinic by William Milhoan of 308 W. 2nd St. who was with Gibson in Dee's Tavern when the stabbing occurred at 10:35 p.m., Alliance Police said.

Barnard Janice Savage told Alliance police that the "two men were arguing over which type of auto would go the fastest when the stabbing happened. She could not identify Gibson's assailant.

Alliance Police Chief A. O. Lowery said that Gibson refused to give police aid in tracking down his attacker, saying, "I can handle the problem myself without help." Gibson also refused to give police any description of the man.

Conviction Of Area GI Reversed By Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Court of Military Appeals Friday ruled that overseas military service is not necessarily "important service."

It gave the ruling in reversing the court-martial conviction of Army Pvt. Cecil E. Hyatt, 19, of East Liverpool, Ohio, on charges of desertion "with the intent to shirk important service."

Under the Military Justice Code, desertion with intent to avoid important service is a more serious crime than simple desertion.

Hyatt, while serving in Europe, obtained a re-enlistment leave and came back to the United States. He was to report later to Camp Kilmer, N.J., for return to Europe but twice failed to do so.

The appeals court sent his case back to the Army judge advocate general for further consideration.

Halt To Nuclear Tests Is Suggested By Red Delegate

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet Union's offer to admit Western inspectors to a nuclear test ban was seen in Western quarters today as a major step forward in disarmament negotiations. But they pointed out many details must be clarified.

The proposal was put to the U.N. Disarmament Subcommittee Friday by Soviet Delegate Valerian Zorin. He suggested a two or three year halt to nuclear tests with an international committee under the United Nations to enforce it.

Zorin said the Soviet Union would agree to admit Western inspectors if there was agreement to the moratorium on nuclear tests.

Until now, the Soviet Union had rejected Western demands that any halt to nuclear tests be backed up by inspection. The Soviets held that the tests could be ended by a simple agreement among the H-bomb nations, Britain, Russia and the United States.

The immediate reaction from Western sources was that the Soviet proposal represented an important advance but that it needed to be thought out before its significance can be judged.

Jules Moch, French representative, told Zorin an ending of tests would be no guarantee to the halting of production of hydrogen bombs.

The Western position is that the scientific knowledge gained over the years from nuclear tests could permit the H-bomb race to continue. The West insists that inspection and enforcement apply to the production of fissionable materials.

Turncoat Says Homesickness Forced Return

HONG KONG (AP) — American turncoat Andrew Fortuna arrived in Hong Kong today and said it was "just plain homesickness" that made him decide to leave Red China after 3 1/2 years. He will board ship for the United States tonight.

The 31-year-old former GI from Ionia, Mich., was the eighth to come home of the 21 American prisoners of war who refused repatriation after the Korean War. One died in China.

Fortuna strolled casually across the board smoking a cigarette. He handed newsmen a written statement saying, "having had a pleasant and interesting stay I am now going home for personal and family reasons."

But after he was processed by American officials here he told a news conference about his homesickness.

"I haven't been home for nine years," Fortuna said. "I was homesick. I guess you can say it was just plain homesickness that is making me go back."

"How do you feel about communism?" he was asked.

"That's a loaded question," Fortuna said. "I'd rather not answer that."

Fortuna said he earned the equivalent of 40 dollars a month as a mechanic at a government motor plant at Hankow, a major industrial city some 40 miles west of Shanghai.

Did it appear that people were happy with communism?

"They looked happy to me," he said.

Senate Approves Foreign Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President aid bill moved on to the House today, propelled by a 57-25 Senate vote.

Every effort by bands of Democratic-led opponents to trim its totals and limit its authority to one year was smothered in a series of roll calls that kept the Senate in session almost until Friday midnight.

Two Americans Missing In Crash

Three Survive Plane Mishap Near Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A twin-engine Polish airliner carrying eight passengers—five of them Americans—crashed in a storm Friday night while coming into Moscow. Three Americans were taken from the wreckage alive. The two others were missing.

The three American survivors were identified as Mrs. Margaret Tremper; her daughter, Michelle, 14, and Richard Cheverton, all of Grand Rapids, Mich.

They were on a tour of the Soviet Union sponsored by television station WOOD-TV in Grand Rapids. Cheverton is news director for the station.

Listed as unaccounted for were Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Beuker. Beuker is a Grand Rapids insurance man.

Three American newsmen stationed in Moscow—Harold Milks and Roy Essoyan of The Associated Press and Irving R. Levine of the National Broadcasting Co.—helped rescue the survivors.

They heard a woman's voice calling "I'm cold, I'm cold, help. My legs hurt." They found Mrs. Tremper pinned in the wreckage and pulled her out and carried her to an ambulance on a stretcher.

Mrs. Tremper's young daughter Michelle and Cheverton, who were rescued later, were both badly bruised and suffering from shock.

Mrs. Tremper was believed the more seriously hurt but the extent of her injuries could not be determined immediately.

The Polish airliner was carrying 12 persons—eight passengers and a crew of four—from Warsaw.

The only known survivor other than the three Americans was the Polish stewardess. Six bodies were counted at the scene.

Cheverton, interviewed in a Moscow hospital, said:

"The weather was fine after leaving Warsaw, until we approached Moscow, when we ran into a storm. The plane began kicking and bucking and the pilot went down to an altitude of about 600 feet, just under the clouds."

"We continued toward Moscow for about a half hour at this altitude. I was worried and tightened my seat belt."

"Suddenly there was a noise, and we were scraping tree tops. Then there was a great down draft, and the next thing I knew I was in the mud."

The first person killed in the crash was Mrs. Nena Hill, 69, of RD, North Benton, who was dead on arrival at the Alliance hospital. Her husband, Blaine, 73, is in fair condition at the hospital where he is being treated for compound fractures of the left leg and possible internal injuries.

The dead woman's daughter, Carol Rinehart, 8, who was a passenger in the car driven by Mrs. Rinehart, is in fair condition at the Alliance hospital, suffering a fractured skull and other injuries.

According to Canfield State Highway Patrol, Mrs. Rinehart was driving north on 12th St. and attempted to pass a car driven by Jesse Hill, 32, of RD 4, Alliance, when she lost control of her auto on the wrong side of the road. Mrs. Rinehart struck head-on the car operated by Blaine Hill which was traveling from the south.

Tornado Kills Two, Injures 50 In Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Two persons were dead, at least 50 injured and a square-mile section of this state capital city resembled a huge trash heap today after a tornado and heavy rains Friday.

Winds of 106 m.p.h. whipped through Springfield's south-south-east area destroying more than 20 homes and damaging 20 others. Nearly every tree was uprooted in two city parks.

About 5,000 telephones, 10 percent of Springfield's total, were out of service early today. And 11 communities had no telephone contact with the capital city of more than 100,000.

All off-duty police and the city's emergency forces helped clear debris and administer first aid to the injured. Hospitals estimated about 50 persons had been treated.

Mrs. Paul Farley, 60, was killed when the tornado shifted her home off its foundation. She was crushed as she stood at the top of the basement steps.

A falling tree toppled a power line atop Mrs. Anna Belle Larson, 37, killing her as she was riding a bicycle.

Only the smokestack remained standing after the storm at the one-story Allis-Chalmers Plant No. 3. The nearby Weaver Manufacturing Co. plant was heavily damaged and the roof of the Cole Chemical Co. building collapsed.

Many Weaver employees huddled beneath machines as jagged chunks of concrete and heavy beams punched holes in the building's metal roof.

No damage estimate was immediately available but one observer—an insurance company official—said it would total more than a million dollars.

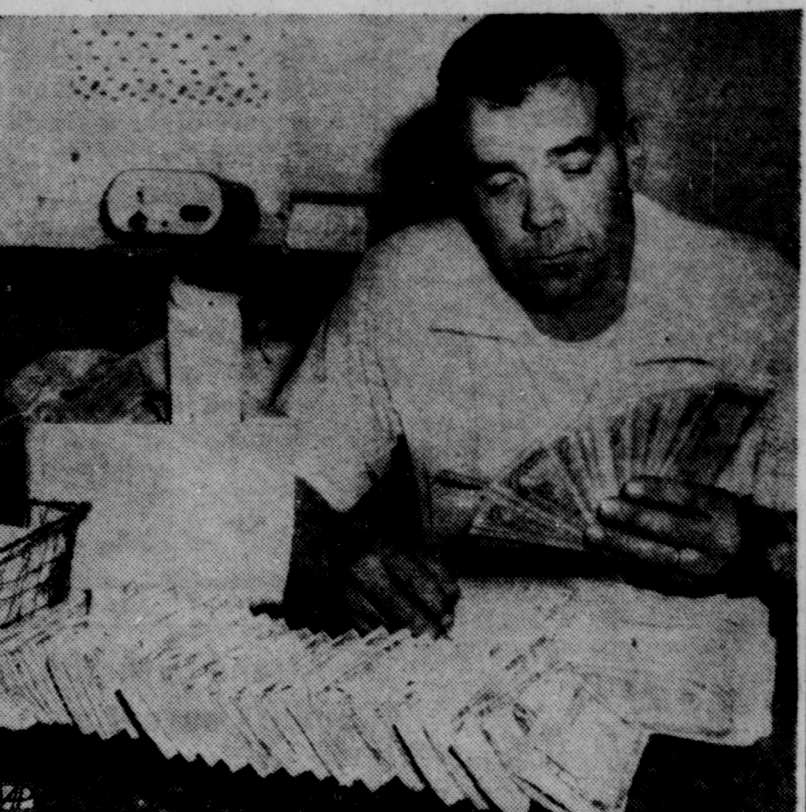

TWO FINED BY MAYOR Willie H. Zachrey, 34, of Alliance, was fined $10 and costs for reckless operation, and Frank O. Llewellyn, 35, of RD 3, Salem, was fined $150 and given three days in jail, driving while intoxicated, when they appeared at hearings Friday and today before Mayor Dean B. Cranmer.

$30,000 Cost Estimated For Improvement

Highway Divisional Engineer, Mayor Confer On Project

The State Highway Department will re-surface State St. from corporation limit to corporation limit if the city of Salem will share 50-50 in the $30,000 cost of the project, Mayor Dean Cranmer said today.

The mayor, after conferring with William Quicksall, new division engineer for the state highway department, and Jack Kimble, assistant division engineer, announced that the state highway department officials reached the $30,000 estimate on re-surfacing the street after making an inspection of it Thursday.

The downtown business section of State St., widened and paved with concrete two years ago, would not be affected, the mayor said.

Makes First Visit Here Quicksall, making his first visit to Salem since his appointment as highway engineer at the Division 11 office at New Philadelphia, expressed a desire to help Salem in this and other future projects, Mayor Cranmer said. Dean Sever was former division engineer.

The re-surfacing of East and West State Street would include an inch and one-half seal-coat treatment, Quicksall told the mayor. The state would pay $15,000 with the city to arrange the balance. The mayor said that if Columbiana County commissioners would share $5,000 of the cost, this would leave the city with only $10,000 to spend to have State Street improved from beginning to end.

Could Be Done This Summer Four city councilmen already had expressed a desire to have the work done if it can be arranged and the mayor said he hoped to have an answer from City Council by Monday. Quicksall said that if the city would approve the project right away the state would advertise the job for contract letting early in July.

"This would mean that we could get the work done this summer," Quicksall explained.

A complete re-paving of State St. within the city, including the removal of the present surface, would cost at least $30,000 according to Acting City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff.

The street has been re-surfaced three times in the past, the state

Pair Ordered Home Plan To Join Army

VIENNA (AP) — Two South Carolina students, ordered home for illegally crossing the border into Communist Hungary, announced today they intend to join the U. S. Army in Paris or Frankfurt so the army will pay their passage.

The students are Myron A. Gilbert of Walterboro and Warren William Hair of North Augusta, both 20.

The U. S. State Department invalidated their passports for any trip but the journey back to the United States because of their excursion into Hungary, where they were held incommunicado for 12 days in a Budapest prison.

At a Vienna youth hostel the students said they had been told by U. S. Consular authorities they would be sent back shortly, as their parents had agreed to pay their fares.

However, Hair explained that if possible he and Gilbert would join the Army in Europe, whereupon they would both be shipped back home for their basic training.

"As hitchhikers we don't have enough money for the trip to the states anyway," he said.

Bible Words for Today

GALATIANS 2:20 — "I have been crucified with Christ; it is no longer I who live, but Christ who liveth in me; and the life I now live in the flesh I live by faith in the Son of God, who loved me and gave Himself for me." (RSV)

These passages from the Bible are powerful. They outline the outlook on life which Paul the Apostle had so that he could exclaim, "I can do all things through Christ that strengtheneth me." They assure to every earnest believer the fact that he (this may mean you!) can do likewise.

These sentences of Paul the Apostle show us, then, how to be at our best when facing life at its worst. They inform us that basic in all living is the function of crucifixion: suffering misfortune in order that someone else may be spared something; or, loss of self for the benefit of another. Why this principle should be operative only God knows; but He has given us also the source of the strength to live by it.

Thus, while we cannot understand evil, we, as believers in God, know what to do in the face of it: we do in our particular tasks, wherever we are, what Jesus Christ did in His unique task on Calvary. Besides, we are given from hidden resources the power to take this brave and cheerful attitude, by virtue of Christ's dwelling in us through the placement of our faith implicitly in Him!

Confident Living

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Getting Spiritual Tone

If you own a piano, you know that from time to time you must have the piano tuner in. He twangs the strings, finds some lifeless because of the loss of tension, and so has to adjust them to bring them back to pitch or tone.

I was reminded of this when I was riding on a plane recently next to a man who is in charge of the physical education of thousands of young men in our Navy. He told me about a conversation he'd had with the crew coach of one of our big universities. The coach was complaining about the material available to his crews now as compared to thirty years ago. "They just haven't got the legs," he said. "Years ago, boys had to walk to school, and run errands, and did some hard muscle-forming work. Now their mothers drive them back and forth, or they go on a school bus, and they are shielded from work as much as possible. As a result, they don't have as much muscle tone, for muscle tone is developed only by constant use of the muscles."

But muscle tone is only one kind of tone. We need mental tone as well. Our reading today is too often limited to pictures and digests; we get too much of our news sitting idly in front of a television set. We need some really tough mental exercise to develop mental tone.

THE OTHER DAY I attended a meeting of ministers where we actually spent six hours exploring some very difficult questions. The man who drove me back to my hotel exclaimed, "My, but I'm tired! We've been doing nothing but thinking for six hours!" And I must admit that I too was so tired I had to lie down for half an hour when I got to my room. But, after that 30 minutes' rest, I felt positively exhilarated; I had put tone back into my mind.

And, last but not least, there is spiritual tone. You must have spiritual tone to achieve the best in mental and physical tone.

My good friend, Dr. Z. Taylor Bercovitz, a well known doctor in New York City, says, "In order to have good tone, you must get in tune." And how does he recommend that you go about this? The doctor advises: "Five minutes on the rowing machine — and five minutes on your knees. The two together will tune you up and give you improved tone for vital living."

THERE IS A TECHNIQUE of spiritual tuning up suggested in the New Testament. Jesus told a man born blind to go wash in the pool of Siloam. The man did and came out seeing. I can't send you to any specific pool, but a spiritual mind washing will do much toward tuning up your whole being.

Conceive of yourself as being washed in the spiritual force which cleanses you of everything that takes the lift out of life. Think of this force as flushing through your physical system, through your mind and through your soul to cleanse you of these physical, mental and spiritual flaws which destroy your tone — such enervating enemies of vitality as worry, resentment, and super self-embodiment. Then life is really good. To have lasting personality tone, we must be in tune spiritually.

ACTUALLY, do you realize what you are? You are literally the temple of God. That is to say that God actually resides in you. He has given you your body, an incomparable instrument which houses your remarkable mind and your undying soul. And, if you maintain its physical, mental and spiritual tone and vibrancy, you can use it well all the days of your life. And those days are likely to be long in the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee."

WEDDING DAY

"With this ring I thee wed."

Our marriage is beginning where a marriage should begin—in Church. Our hands meet across the Bible. My eyes fall to the printed page, and the verse I see there is so appropriate that I catch my breath in awe and amazement.

Here is the story of a king who long ago sought for a virtuous woman and was told that her price would be far above rubies. Here are detailed the qualities that a truly virtuous woman would have—faithfulness, industry, thrift, compassion, courage, strength, honor.

As I look up at my new husband, I feel a surge of humility. I make a silent pledge that these words in Proverbs will be my guide as his wife. They're a challenge, I know. A big challenge! But, with the help of the Church, I'm going to try to live up to them.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible, daily.

Dear Ole Dad

If Father's Day were to do nothing else, it would call attention to the heroic role of dear ole dad in the evolving scheme of things here in the dear ole U.S.A.

D.O.D. is the party of the second part, the fellow who gets in the way at births, lurks in the background at weddings, toils over the outdoor fireplace at cookouts and gets blamed for all sorts of things in divorce trials.

He has lost his monopoly on bread-winning, barbershop camaraderie, the front rooms of saloons and shrewdness in knowing where to find the biggest ches in the friable soil where the talents lie buried.

Nevertheless, there is no substitute for dear ole dad. He is unique in his timeless role as the parent who wears the whiskers, although he long since lost his prerogative of wearing the trousers.

Seize the opportunity of Father's Day to give him something he needs, then go one step further. Give him something he wants—a pat on the back for doing almost no complaining in what has turned out to be a difficult situation.

One Man's Bellyache

President Eisenhower knows as clearly as anyone else in the world why his bellyaches are news, which gives him a chance to be more philosophical about them than the commentators.

Perhaps it would be a good idea for some of the commentators to try to approach the President's serenity about the ups and downs of his health. He has no control over them — no more than we have over ours.

But the difference between his and ours is that the stock market does not fluctuate when we have gastric upsets. The politicians do not bite their hangers, and the political bosses do not puff faster on their big seggars.

Some kind soul merely suggests that we swallow a pill and take the weight off our feet. If that fails, we may take it easy at the next meal, foregoing the usual French fries for the cottage cheese, and swallowing more pills.

Only in extremes, if someone insists, do we call a doctor, and when this dignitary shows up he has nothing to prescribe except abstinence from eating, smoking and going back to work until we feel better. All except the time it turned out to be appendicitis.

The stock market does not wobble a fraction of a point. No one bites a hangnail, not even our insurance agent who frankly figures that what must be will be and lets it go at that. One man's bellyache is of no importance.

One bicarb pill will get you a bottle of that pink pacifier that Mr. Eisenhower wishes it could be that way in his case, too, because as far as he is concerned it is that way.

The Great Equalizer

Somewhat sooner than had been expected, the "little fellows" have waked up to the fact that the "big fellows" are in a position to play power politics with fission and fusion in the London Disarmament Conference.

That is what is behind the sudden alarm lest the United States and the Soviet Union make a two-way agreement which would freeze out Great Britain and France.

Not too many years in the future, everybody will have possession of one version or another of atomic and thermo-nuclear bombs. They are destined to become the great equalizer among nations. They will make the smallest nation the equivalent in bargaining power to the largest, just as the six-shooter made very man stand six feet tall in pioneer days.

But if the "big fellows" get together while the "little fellows" are still saving money to buy nuclear arsenals, they can curb the bargaining power of the little nations while it is still weak.

Regardless of how reassuring it sounds in the United States to hear there is a possibility of getting together with the Russians, the prospect of a bilateral agreement gives fits to other governments. European politics has not been changed by the scientific breakthrough in fission and fusion.

There is just as much fear in Europe today of power blocs as there was in the time of the Holy Alliance or the Axis, just as many misgivings about the possibility of big dogs eating little dogs.

Secretary of State Dulles has done everything in his power to reassure the nations which are alarmed. He has made it clear to Harold Stassen that the United States intends to protect the interests of its friends in the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance. But their misgivings are real. They are based on the possibility that the two most powerful nations might get together — the combination that all young European diplomats learn to fear at the knees of their counselors.

Now is the time for new fishing bait to pop onto the market so the fishermen will bite.

We'll soon have a new national pesttime—swatting flies and mosquitoes.

Religion At Work

By EUGENE CARR

A Father Talks With His Son

When a father talks with his son, does he say the world is primarily bad, and therefore it is not necessary to be good to get along in the world?

Does he advise his boy to grow up tough and strong and hardened to the difficult ways of life, and be ready to exchange blow for blow in the endless tussle for survival?

Does he label honesty and trust and reverence as "weaknesses" which will be seized upon by a ruthless society seeking every possible advantage for personal gain? Does he warn against such "weaknesses" and tell his son to be constantly alert to exploit them in others?

DOES HE POINT to examples of "success" built on fraud and corruption, and suggest that a crook is not a crook if he's a big enough crook?

Does he disparage the responsibilities of home and family, single out the problems of marriage, and advise against becoming entangled in such restrictions?

Does he discredit God and His place in the scheme of things, deny the existence of a Supreme Being in the life of this world and in the life of the individual?

A SON MUST be conscious of dishonesty and unethical practices, must know they exist, but should learn that the good in life far outweighs the bad.

He must recognize the presence of selfishness and evil in the world, but should learn that the pitfalls of lust and hate and greed are eventually traps for the lustful, the hateful and the greedy.

He must understand that success is not a way of life but a way of living, and learn to discriminate between the two.

He must accept his responsibilities as privileges, not problems, and learn to cope with them as a normal part of his existence.

He must look to God as the one great source of strength and justice and reward, and earn to rely on Him in the face of obstacles, disappointment and ridicule.

This is what a son wants to hear from his father when his father sits down for a talk with him.

The only reason I watch prize-fights on TV, now that I am a hardened observer of blood-letting, is to be glad I do not have to make a living by getting my face mashed.

That Girard boy in Japan will rue the day the politicians took up his case to embarrass the government. Up to this time, the Japanese have turned back nearly all GI cases to military courts, but now Girard has put them on the spot.

Next to this climate's ferocious winter weather, the most inexcusable thing it has to offer is its unbearably humid summer weather—the kind that makes the pillow damp.

If I had a chance to kick up my heels for one enchanted evening, I would rather squire Marguerite Higgins, the newspaper doll, than any unmarried cutie I know about.

Anyone with doubts about the power of publicity should be made aware of the fact that Troubadour, champion steer of last year's Chicago Livestock Show, is still alive and ruminating because so many people who saw his picture opposed his conversion into steaks and chops.

I can argue with conviction that the source of all misunderstanding about the cost of government is funny money that makes comparisons between the past and they present not on foolish but vicious.

It is impossible for me to feel sorry for chumps who get fleeced in confidence games because all the games are based on avarice and larceny in the victim's makeup.

The statement that the goof-up on the Air Force missile in Florida taught valuable lessons is reminiscent of what I always say after some thick-headed blunder in the course of being handy around the house.

There has been an argument in my house for many years on the special summer outfits that many men wear. I claim men's clothes have become so light in weight that it is no longer necessary to wear special suits in the good old summertime.

The commencement address with the hardest wallop this year was made by Gen. Isaac D. White, Eighth Army commander in Korea, at Norwich University. He told what Chinese Communists thought of U.S. soldiers in the Korean war—and it was not reassuring.

I concede the Mayflower reenactment was a masterpiece of promotion for the British export trade but remain unmoved by the phony connection with the original ship. No one knows what Mayflower I looked like. The Pilgrims might have refused to set foot on the version that has been making such a splash in 1957.

Father's Day embarrasses me, as I believe it embarrasses all fathers. We want nothing out of life, by and large, but the kind of respect we figure would be ours if we made a million dollars a year after taxes and stood 8 feet tall in our stocking feet.

The most refreshing thing to eat in warm weather is that cold potato soup with the fancy French name that drives yokels away when they see it on a menu because they are afraid it might have snails in it.

No one else seems to be taking notice, the U.S. Supreme Court is about to get into hot water with too many legalistic hair-splitting about principles Congress never has defined clearly.

Recession Fears Few

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business glides toward the summer doldrums with many in high places more worried about what is increasing than what is decreasing.

If a recession is in the making, surely it's the least feared one in years. Most of the fretting appears to be about what may happen in the fall if both output and prices zoom higher.

For many businessmen and economists the big shadow now isn't the slide in industrial activity but the steady rise in costs and prices even while output falls off—and the prospect of a basic price boost (in the steel industry) just a few weeks away.

This worry is reflected in the stock and bond markets. With bond yields now so close to that on stocks, investors would be expected to be gobbling up bonds. Instead they are bidding up the prices of common stocks because, apparently, they believe that more inflation is on the way and stock sales are more likely to go up and bonds to go down in eras of inflation.

Some had expected that when industrial output began to slide and the length of factory work weeks to shorten, the money managers would ease the tight money condition with the aim of warding off a recession.

But fears of a deep recession are few now. And fears of more inflation in the fall are rising. So the money managers apparently are willing to let any easing in the credit squeeze come about naturally — that is, by letting the demand of business for funds to taper off.

This tapering hasn't amounted to much yet. Banks report that commercial and industrial loans, while lower than at the start of the year, are still 3 1/2 billion dollars higher than a year ago.

Building of new homes is now at the highest rate of the year so far, although the total for the year is expected to be notably below the 1,100,000 units built in 1956.

The auto industry isn't as spectacularly prosperous as it would like, or as it was in 1955. But it is making and selling a sizable number of cars.

Rains in the drought areas have revived the hopes of the farm implement makers and the host of other businessmen who value farmers as customers.

So, a slight recession in some manufacturing industries doesn't worry those who take an over-all view.

But what to do about creeping inflation is something else.

Vice President's Formula

By MARTIN S. HAYDEN

With Republicans clawing one another in budget feuding, Vice President Richard M. Nixon is telling the GOP it can sweep the country in 1958 — by taking away Democratic votes in industrial areas.

With an obvious eye on his own 1960 presidential aspirations, the youthful vice president preached his "how to win" line in private talks with GOP leaders assembled last week for the national committee's "harmony session" and is repeating it in confidential talks with newsmen.

KEY POINTS to the Nixon formula are:

1. Copy the Democrats in moniating "glamor" candidates with something to say, and the knack of saying it.

2. Forget the problem of wealthy Republican contributors currently in revolt against the Eisenhower budget—they will, he believes, be "back in line" and supporting the GOP "because it's that, or something worse."

3. Take political advantage of a "do nothing" congressional session in which Nixon predicts the Democrats will "scuttle" school aid, civil rights, immigration reform and every other Eisenhower "social" measure—a d thereby weaken themselves in Detroit, New York, Philadelphia and other big cities they have dominated since Franklin Roosevelt's New Deal days.

4. Recognize that, while Eisenhower popularity is still the GOP's best asset, it will only help in local races when the GOP candidate is an "Eisenhower type" as differentiated from an "Eisenhower coat of arms" type.

5. Stop worrying about the President's problem with reactionary congressmen who oppose him: Mr. Eisenhower will "settle" that by ignoring them in 1958 and, since they come generally from rock-ribbed Republican districts, they'll "win anyhow."

NIXON IS BLUNT expounding his thesis. He says the series of regional GOP conferences just completed "started as a dud" because they were primarily "beefing sessions"; that got changed, he says, last week in Washington and get candidates with class. In states like Michigan they've got to quit fighting among themselves. If they do it, we can run well everywhere."

Nixon believes that what Harry Truman did with the "do nothing" 80th Congress, Republicans can do better with the record of the current 85th Congress.

He admits Democrats will make some hay from GOP congressional votes cast against the President's program. But he says, in balance, Republicans will get the advantage from two "obvious" talking points.

"FIRST," HE SAYS, "Democrats have the majority. They said: 'Elect us and we'll do something'; they got control and they are doing nothing. Civil rights, school aid—all of it is going to be beaten by maneuvering within the Democratic organization."

"That will be apparent to metropolitan area voters principally interested in those projects and it will cost the Democrats votes."

How "well" does he think the GOP will do next year?

"We can take the House," he says. "We'll gain some industrial area seats and pick up a few farm belt ones that slipped away last time. The Senate—I'll admit it's going to be tough."

And what about Republicans now in the "economy" revolt?

"They'll be back," says Nixon. "They'll wake up to the fact that everything the President is doing was in the Republican platform last election and that he is trying to do it as economically as possible."

"They are bound to remember that what they object to now was ten times worse under Roosevelt and Truman, and will be ten times worse again if Democrats came back and start spending freely."

Eye Attention For Children

It has not been recognized as often as it should be that children sometimes need special eye attention before they reach school age. An extremely valuable discussion of this subject by a Detroit eye specialist recently appeared in The Sight-Saving Review, published by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

The author pointed out that vision is a highly complex sense. It requires the participation of three entirely different systems: the visual pathway, eye movement and balance, and the higher brain centers.

The glands of internal secretion control the growth of children and the eye matures along with muscles, nerves and bones. Of specific importance is the fact that one portion of the retina of the eye is slow in maturing. The clarity of vision of a four-year-old is likely to be considerably less than it is a few years later.

However, the ability to focus rays of light on the retina, which is spoken of as accommodation, is much better in small children than it is later in life. A seven-year-old child can often read ordinary print at a distance at one inch.

This ability to see clearly things close to the eyes decreases bit by bit until most of us at 45 years of age need reading glasses to see well at 14 inches.

Thus, parents and teachers need not fear that a child who holds a book or magazine close to the eyes is injuring them.

Difficulty with the system of eye balance controlled by the muscles, should receive early correction. Disturbance of balance may result in blurring of vision, headaches or even double vision. This is the spirit which I have discussed on other occasions and which should receive early treatment.

It often begins between the ages of one and four and therefore cannot be safely left for treatment until school age. Its treatment is highly technical and may involve glasses, surgery, eye exercises or combinations of these.

This type of difficulty is often discovered because the child may tilt the head somewhat to the side, although this alone is not enough to make a diagnosis.

The Detroit ophthalmologist also discussed the question of whether glasses weaken the eyes. Glasses do not change the eyes but change the direction of light coming into them. "I have never seen vision made worse by properly fitted lenses," he said, "but I have seen vision made better by them."

It is now possible to prescribe glasses for infants of one year or younger.

Discounts Report Wartime Device Made GIs Sterile

CINCINNATI (U)—The wartime training chief for the supersecret "Chinese daylight" device says none of the trainees he knows had defective children later or were sterile.

J. Ross Kirwan Jr. of Cincinnati, who helped set up the secluded training station at Fort Knox in World War II, also discounted reports that the controversial bright lights killed rabbits.

Kirwan was a first lieutenant in 1942 when he was sent to England with two other young officers as the first Americans to study the devices.

They returned and set up a training center at a secluded Fort Knox, Ky., section.

"I was in front of the lights, beside them and behind them for five to six hours a night, six days a week," he said.

Kirwan said that each of his three children are completely normal. He said: "You'll never get my wife to believe that those lights made you sterile."

The top-secret project was essentially training with high-power lights—much like motion picture arc lamps—mounted on tanks. They were designed to blind enemy soldiers during an advance.

Kirwan said that all kinds of animals were picked up in the light's beam—not only rabbits but foxes and groundhogs and others. He said he knew of none that were killed by the lights.

Kirwan, now in industrial sales for an aluminum producer, said he took the light devices overseas with his unit in 1944 but they were never used.

His outfit fought its way across Europe to the meeting with the Russians May 2, 1945. He was a major when separated from the service early in 1946.

Girard Case Ruling Expected Next Week

WASHINGTON (U)—Final arguments on the legality of a U.S. decision to let Japanese courts try GI William S. Girard have been submitted to Federal District Judge Joseph C. McGarraghy.

His ruling is expected next week.

Girard, an Army specialist E.C., is accused of fatally wounding a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal in an area used by the Army in Japan.

Girard's lawyers said Friday in their written argument that if the government's legal position in the case has any merit, "the Soviet Gestapo system begins to loom mild by comparison."

The government's lawyers headed by U. S. Atty. Oliver Gasch spoke in turn of the "absurdity" of legal contentions made on Girard's behalf. They insisted Congress has agreed to permit trial by foreign courts of American servicemen accused of violating civil laws abroad.

Gambling Devices Found On Farm Of Police Chief

BELLEVILLE, Ohio (U)—An estimated $5,000 worth of gambling equipment was confiscated Friday by authorities from a house on a farm allegedly owned by Police Chief O. E. Tait of Russell's Point, Ohio, the Logan County prosecutor said.

Mrs. Mary Abel, Logan County prosecutor, said the raid was ordered by Robert B. Krupansky, director of the State Liquor Department. She said the raid, by state and county officials, followed reports to her that illegal liquor was being sold in the house.

Mrs. Abel, who accompanied the raid in person, reported roulette, dice and blackjack tables were confiscated. She said it was necessary to smash through several locked doors to gain entrance. No illegal liquor was found.

The farm is located in the hills three miles east of here and is 12 miles from Russell's Point. Tait, who has been police chief in Russell's Point for a number of years, does not live on the farm. He lives in Russell's Point. He could not be reached immediately for comment.

Mrs. Abel said only one man was found on the premises but he refused to give his name. She said he estimated the total value of the gambling equipment at more than $5,000.

The Herald Tribune said the United States will seek to sell its allies on a 10-month trial suspension of nuclear tests, provided the Soviet Union agrees to do the same.

Reverses Decision On Continuance

Federal Judge Orders Hoffa Trial To Start

WASHINGTON (U)—A federal judge has ordered the conspiracy-bribery trial of Teamsters union bigwig Jimmy Hoffa to go ahead on Monday. She had granted a continuance, but changed her mind.

District Judge Burnita S. Matthews apparently was irked Friday when a young woman lawyer told her Hoffa's chief counsel probably could not be on hand for the trial date because he planned to be in London at that time.

Hoffa, Teamsters union vice president and boss of the union's Midwest activities, was arrested here March 13 and charged with hiring a lawyer to get inside information from the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

The lawyer, John C. Cheasty of New York, told the Federal Bureau of Investigation and committee officials about the plan.

Hoffa reportedly had hoped to delay his trial for several months so he could run for the Teamsters presidency, or at least play a major role in the selection of a successor to the retiring president, Dave Beck.

Hyman I. Fischbach of Miami is a co-defendant with Hoffa.

Friday, Judge Matthews heard arguments on a motion to continue the trial. Miss Agnes Neill, an attorney for only about two years, stood in for Edward Bennett Williams, Hoffa's chief counsel, during arguments on the motion.

The principal argument for a delay was based on Williams' engagement in Federal Court in New York on behalf of gambler Frank Costello, who is seeking a new trial on tax evasion charges.

The judge reset the trial of Hoffa and Fischbach for July 15. Then she asked Miss Neill whether Williams would be available at that time. The young lawyer replied that she understood Williams intended to go to London this summer to attend a convention of the American Bar Assn.

Without further ado, Judge Matthews denied the continuance and said the trial "will go on on Monday."

'Why I Am For the YW'

MISS ERMA HOOPES
Former YWCA Staff Worker

"In my 27 years experience as a staff member of the Young Women's Christian Association, I have found that the YWCA has much more to offer its members than recreation and crafts.

"It provides many opportunities for growth. Many women through the YWCA movement have developed qualities of initiative, cooperation, willingness and individuality. Every department of work offers these opportunities. Many who volunteer their time develop qualities which, together with spiritual awareness, form the basic character of the women and men of a community.

"Several of the most pleasant experiences in my work were to see members, who had little or no opportunity to work on committees with others or who lacked the income to mingle socially with other groups, become active in YWCA committee work. This opportunity to broaden their views encouraged them to expand their education until they became holders of responsible positions in their communities. The YWCA program trains women to become leaders in their communities.

"Knowing the good which YWCA work does for individuals, there is an opportunity now for the people of Salem to make an adequate contribution to the future of the city and its surrounding area by providing a YWCA. Truly, the citizens of Salem can make no better investment to the future of the city than to pledge to the building of a YWCA which will benefit the girls and women of this city for many future years."

Cleveland Indians Score 7-2 Win Over Baltimore Orioles

Williams Gets 3 Hits Out Of 4

Garcia Gives Up 8 Hits; Strikes Out 8

CLEVELAND (AP)—The versatility of Dick Williams led the Cleveland Indians into the swap that sent Jim Busby to the Baltimore Orioles and Williams to the Tribe.

"I think Williams will help us because he can do so many things," Indians' Manager Kerby Farrell said following Friday's trade.

"He plays hard. That's the main thing," Farrell said of the 28-year-old six-footer who plays every position but pitcher, catcher and shortstop.

Hank Greenberg, Indians' general manager, commented that Williams fit into the Tribe's plans better than Busby.

"Busby wanted to play every day and he'll get his chance with the Orioles," Greenberg added.

Williams comes to the Indians after a stint in the National League with the Brooklyn Dodgers, who traded him to Baltimore last June. This year, he appeared in 47 of the Orioles' 54 games, hitting a home run, 10 doubles and two triples for a batting average of .234.

In four times at bat Friday night, he singled, doubled and hit a home run to help his new teammates defeat the Orioles, 7-2.

Mike Garcia turned in one of his best performances of the year, pitching his first complete game in 11 starts. He allowed only eight hits, struck out eight and walked two to post his second victory against three defeats.

Bobby Avila continued to star at the plate, belting a three-run homer during a seventh inning rally. Roger Maris' single and a double by Jim Hegan brought home the first run in the seventh.

Al Smith walked and Avila hammered out his third homer of the season, over the left field fence.

Williams, who set up the Indians' first run in the second with a single, doubled in the eighth and scored on a single by Maris.

Bill Wight started and was the loser for the Orioles, his fourth loss against one victory. Hector Brown and Art Houtteman also hurled for Baltimore.

Bob Boyd's third straight hit off Garcia, a double in the sixth, brought home the Orioles' first run. A pair of singles by Boyd were the only hits Garcia allowed until that point.

Billy Goodman, another new addition to the Baltimore team, connected in the ninth for a bases-empty home run to score the Orioles' final tally. Goodman was traded by Boston Friday in exchange for pitcher Mike Fornieles.

Bud Daley will be gunning for his second victory when he takes the mound for the Indians this afternoon in the second game of the four-game series with the Orioles. Billy O'Dell will hurl for Baltimore.

'Witching Hour' For Big League Trading Is Midnight Tonight

The witching hour for major league trading is midnight tonight and most of the contenders in both leagues still are hoping to swing a deal that might strengthen them.

The one exception is the Chicago White Sox who apparently have decided to go for broke with what they have.

The most desperate teams are the Milwaukee Braves and the Cincinnati Redlegs, who fear they won't be able to fight off the Brooklyn Dodgers, the St. Louis Cardinals or Philadelphia's latest bunch of whiz kids for the National League pennant.

The Braves—whose fans are getting impatient waiting for a winner—still hope to get Red Schoendienst, the New York Giants' talented second baseman. Brave officials have been talking to the Giants all week.

The Redlegs, meanwhile, have found that they can't depend on their pitching staff, and have been tapering off after a hot start. Their big need is a pitcher, and they, too, are wooing the lowly Giants with Ruben Gomez the pawn.

The Yanks have been after a power hitter and reportedly have their eyes on Harry Simpson of Kansas City. They probably would be willing to give up Billy Martin for him.

Most of Friday's activity concerned the Baltimore Orioles, who are desperately trying to put themselves up. Only two weeks ago, manager Paul Richards termed them a "bunch of clowns."

The Orioles:

1. Sent pitcher Mike Fornieles (2-6) to Boston for handyman Billy Goodman, 31 years old and riding the bench despite a lifetime .300 batting average.

2. Dealt outfielder Dick Williams (.234) to the Cleveland Indians for outfielder Jim Busby (.189) and riding the bench.

3. Bought pitcher Ken Lehman from the Brooklyn Dodgers on waivers, probably more than the $10,000 price. Lehman has no record this year.

White Sox Beat Senators 10-4; Unknowns Pace National Open

53 Survive In 57th Annual Golf Classic

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A pair of darkhorses, amateur Billy Joe Patton and professional Dick Mayer, paced a surviving field of 53 today into the 36-hole stretch drive of the topsy-turvy 57th National Open Golf championship.

They were the only ones able to crack the Inverness Club's 6,919-yard par 70 layout. They did it with identical 70-68-138 scores to take a two-stroke edge and match the tournament half-way record set by Sam Snead in 1948.

With even par 140 were Ford of Mahopac, N.Y. and Ken Venturi of San Francisco.

Billy Joe of Morganton, N.C., is hoping to become the first amateur to win the Open since Johnny Goodman did it in 1933. Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., hasn't won a tournament this year.

The first round leaders, Jimmy Demaret and Chick Harbert, failed to match their opening 68s. Demaret skidded to 73, while Harbert soared to 79 in the second round, Jimmy slipping to a fifth-place tie with Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex., at 141, and Harbert to a 21st place deadlock at 147.

At 142 was Robert De Vincenzo of Mexico City, and at 143 was Peter Thomson of Australia.

Scores of 150, ten over par, were necessary to get into the final day's play, and the cutoff caught some highly-rated talent. Among the missing were Ed Furgol, 1954 champion, and Ted Kroll who piled up $76,000 in tournament gold last year.

Others sidelined Arnold Palmer, Lloyd Mangrum, Gene Sarazen, Mike Suchack, Dutch Harrison, Shelley Mayfield, Henry Ransom, Denny Shute, Tommy Bolt and Gardner Dickinson.

Low Worsham, the 1947 champion, stayed in play as his two-round total hit 150 on the nose. Three other former champions who qualified were Dr. Cary Middecoff, defending king, 146, Julius Boros, 144, and Jack Fleck, 148.

53 Survive In 57th Annual Golf Classic

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—A pair of darkhorses, amateur Billy Joe Patton and professional Dick Mayer, paced a surviving field of 53 today into the 36-hole stretch drive of the topsy-turvy 57th National Open Golf championship.

They were the only ones able to crack the Inverness Club's 6,919-yard par 70 layout. They did it with identical 70-68-138 scores to take a two-stroke edge and match the tournament half-way record set by Sam Snead in 1948.

With even par 140 were Ford of Mahopac, N.Y. and Ken Venturi of San Francisco.

Billy Joe of Morganton, N.C., is hoping to become the first amateur to win the Open since Johnny Goodman did it in 1933. Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., hasn't won a tournament this year.

The first round leaders, Jimmy Demaret and Chick Harbert, failed to match their opening 68s. Demaret skidded to 73, while Harbert soared to 79 in the second round, Jimmy slipping to a fifth-place tie with Bo Winger of Odessa, Tex., at 141, and Harbert to a 21st place deadlock at 147.

'Ruler,' Gallant Man Favorites In Belmont

By JOHN CHANDLER
NEW YORK (AP) — Bold Ruler and Gallant man, not to forget five other colts of lesser stature, match strides today in one of the most talked-about horse races of the season — the 89th running of Belmont Stakes.

This is the finale of the famed triple crown series for 3-year-old thoroughbreds, and it apparently settles down to a question whether a good little horse like Gallant

Kluszewski Ready To Take Regular Turn

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Klu, one of the most feared sluggers in the National League who was reduced to 237 pounds of misery this spring, appears ready to take his regular turn again.

Big Klu, of course, is Ted Kluszewski, first baseman of the Cincinnati Redlegs, who has been ailing off and on more than a year.

Big Klu played his second game since returning from the disabled list Friday night. He smashed out four hits in five times at bat, including a two-run homer. The Redlegs beat the Giants 5-4.

That's an indication of how important Big Klu is to the Redlegs if they hope to stay in the fight for the National League pennant.

"My back feels all right," he said happily before today's game with the Giants. "The sharp pain isn't there any more."

But suddenly, as if remembering all the false alarms he has had in the past, he added:

"I can only hope it stays away."

A month ago today Klu was released from the hospital in Boston and told to forget about the injury — diagnosed finally as a slipped disc in his spine—and get ready to play ball.

"So you can see," he said, Friday night's game really was encouraging to me. I had some soreness in my back, but I attribute it to the little I've used those muscles rather than anything else. It was a different kind of soreness."

He said he was tired from playing two games in two days in hot weather but that he was ready to keep going at full speed.

"And imagine how I felt when I hit that home run," he continued. "Why I hadn't hit a homer since last September. That was the longest period that I haven't hit a homer since I've been in the majors."

Big Ted Klu Back In Groove

Raps Out 4 Hits As Cincinnati Wins 5-4

NEW YORK (AP) — Big Ted Kluszewski, beefiest of the Cincinnati Redlegs "muscleman", is back in the groove with his bat. It couldn't have come at a better time.

The sturdy first baseman banged out four hits in a row Friday night, one of them a two-run homer, helping the Reds pull out of a four-game slump with a 5-4 victory over New York's Giants.

Klu, sidelined since the season's start with a slipped spinal disc, moved around first base like he never knew an aching back and even came tearing in like a big truck to score from third on a passed ball in the fourth inning.

Klu's power and first base capability may be just what the team needs after losing 9 of the last 13 games and tumbling down the National League ladder in a hurry. Friday night's win hoisted the Reds up to second place, one-half game back of Milwaukee.

The Reds couldn't nail down the win until the eighth inning when Klu's fourth hit, an opening single, set up the winning run. He scored for a 5-1 lead after an error on Don Hoak's single.

But the Reds had to stave off a Giant surge in the eighth inning to keep the victory.

Redleg starter Joe Nuxhall took the victory, but was chased in the eighth when the New Yorkers scored three runs, two of them on Willie Mays' homer.

The Redleg's southpaw had kept firm control up to that point, doling out only two hits in the first seven innings.

The Giants ended up with six hits. Hersell Freeman took over for Nuxhall and gave up the final Giant run before sealing off the inning.

The Redlegs started scoring in the fourth inning on Klu's sprint from third, but New York tied it up in the same inning on Ossie Virgil's homer.

Kluszewski again put the Reds ahead in the fifth with his big homer into the rightfield stands, behind Gus Bell's single.

Nuxhall got into the scoring end in the seventh inning with a single that brought Alex Grammas in from second and ended the night for Giant starter Stu Miller.

The second of three games with the Giants comes today with Brooks Lawrence slated to oppose Ruben Gomez on the mound.

A HOMER TO REMEMBER

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — Luke Easter, at 35, has been in baseball a long time and during his span in the majors and minors has hit the long ball many times. But perhaps the one he will remember best is the drive he belted Friday night.

The sturdy 6 foot 4, 235-pound first baseman became the first player in the 33-year history of the Buffalo, N. Y., stadium to drive a ball over the centerfield scoreboard—a blast that carried more than 500 feet—as the Buffalo Bisons smothered the Columbus Jets 11-4 in the second game of an International League doubleheader.

On Your Mark... Facts and Fancies About Sports

By MARK MILLER

Is the Salem AA softball circuit as good as it used to be? Does it present the keen competition and won-or-die spirit exhibited by teams of past years?

A review of this year's teams and their individual and squad records attests that the brand of ball being played here these days is outstanding.

This season's current leader is Kenmar Furniture of East Palestine, sporting a record of four victories and only one loss. Kenmar, tournament runner-up, is playing for the first time in the Salem senior bracket.

Some of Kenmar's stellar performers are Beatrice and Huda, with batting averages of .460 and .456, respectively. Bill Spear leads the team's pitching with four wins and no losses.

Other newcomers to the league are Old Dutch of Alliance, Hanoverton Merchants, and Stepanics Tavern of Kensington. Stepanics record is three wins, and two defeats; Old Dutch has a two and two record; and Hanoverton has won two and dropped four.

Playing for Stepanics are many of the players who played for Mark's Landing, last year's play-off champion. Glenn Mercer is their leading pitcher and also top batter with a .366 average.

Dean Myers is batting .310, and the defensive work of Ed Bozick, Dick Daugherty, and Carson McNeely is of the team's important assets.

Old Dutch is featuring one of Salem's ace pitchers in Bill Herman. Herman in his first outing recently lost a one hitter, 2-1, to Stepanics. He struck out 12 batters. Walt Rhodes, another pitcher, has a one and one record.

"Bounce" Grimes and Bobby Halk are the club's two outstanding hitters, with batting averages of .333 and .310, respectively.

Hanoverton, in fourth place in the league, is represented on the mound by Forest McBrien, who has won one and lost three. Jerry Marquis and Bob Myers lead the team with .400 and .310 batting averages, respectively.

Local entries are highlighted by the second place Henderson's Tavern, perennially one of Salem's most colorful ball teams. Most of this year's squad played on the Deming team, last season's play-off runner-up to Mark's Landing.

Pitching this season is Dave Ehrhart with a two and zero record, and "Satch" Altomare, with a two and two mark. The hurlers are bolstered by the fine catching of Ken Schoeni.

Dick Boughton has bashed out 11 hits in 2 trips to the plate for a spectacular 500 average, while Steve Cibula is batting .384. Jim Barnes, 1956 league leader, has smashed two home runs, thus far, and the base running of Eddie Duco has provided the fans with many thrills.

Parker's Chevrolet, paced by ageless Wayne "Muscles" Russell, who threw a no-hitter on opening night against Hanoverton for an 8-0 victory, has a 1-1 record. Playing manager Sam Priddy, Frank Lanney, and Joe Carmelo are playing excellent defensive ball to keep their club in contention, and Reno Menichelli is the top batter with an average of .378.

The House Friday beat down the Southern-backed amendment, 199-167. The vote made it apparent that on the final test the civil rights bill will pass the House in a form acceptable to President Eisenhower and its Northern Democratic - Republican supporters. The showdown is expected Monday.

The fate facing the bill in the Senate is still uncertain. The Senate Judiciary Committee has written a jury trial amendment into its civil rights bill, but 16 senators said Friday they plan a move to bypass the judiciary group and bring the House bill to the Senate floor.

"I honestly believe the work the White House has done in the past week made the difference," said Rep. Willis (D-La.), one of the leaders of the Southern bloc. He spoke in an interview, adding: "This is the one they had to go all out on. And I know of specific instances of members who changed their minds under White House pressure."

There was no record vote. But as far as could be seen, only 30 to 40 of the 200 House Republicans joined the Southern Democrats who filed between tellers to register their support of the jury trial amendment. The Southern at one time expressed hopes for 70 or more Republican votes in their favor.

The civil rights bill is perhaps the most controversial of Eisenhower's major domestic proposals and one of the first to approach approval in the House.

The Southern — and some Northerners — said the amendment would guarantee what they contended is a constitutional right of trial by jury. But proponents of the civil rights bill contended the amendment would have nullified the measure's effect in the South and that it would have been inconsistent with the general rule that courts can enforce their own orders without juries.

The bill provides that the U.S. attorney general may seek injunctions in federal courts in support of voting and other civil rights. The amendment would have provided that anyone accused of violating such injunctions must be given a jury trial.

Southerners said they will go ahead Monday with other proposed amendments, even though all sides conceded the opponents' best chance was with the jury trial amendment.

The amendments to be pushed are one to require that state court remedies be used fully before any civil rights actions are brought in federal court, and another specifying that the attorney general must obtain the consent in writing of the person involved before bringing a civil rights injunction suit.

County Wheat Farmers To Vote On Quotas

LISBON — Columbiana County farmers with a wheat allotment of more than 15 acres or farmers who intend to have over 15 acres of wheat for harvest in 1958 are eligible to vote for or against marketing quota regulations for the 1958 crop.

Countians will vote at the Agricultural Stabilization Conservation office, in the Farmers National Bank Building here between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. Thursday, according to Everett A. Fishel, chairman of the Columbiana ASC county committee.

If two-thirds or more of the eligible voters vote in favor of marketing quotas, all farms will be required not to harvest over 15 acres of wheat unless their allotment is larger. If more than one-third vote against marketing quotas all farmers can plant wheat as they choose, unless they are interested in price support or the soil bank program, Fishel said.
